Special Dutch Bulb Offer

COTTAGE TULIPS, PICOTEE, IN BLOOM DURING MAY

Note the graceful shape of the flower. The color is even more beautiful. Pure white, the edge of the petals is margined rose-pink. As the flower ages, this beautiful tone of pink gradually suffuses the entire bloom. Planted in clumps of 25 bulbs each throughout your garden borders or in a bed in mass, the effect will in either case be beautiful. Bulbs prepaid to your home, 75 cts. per dozen, $5 per 100.

FOR ORDERS RECEIVED UP TO JULY 1

At the time this circular is being prepared for the printer, the reports from Holland are such as to justify the belief that the crop will be no greater than last year, which proved to be about one-third of normal. Being advised of this condition, we have placed our contracts with our usual growers for the varieties mentioned in our Special Bulb Offer and are making this Special Offer to you. When the quantities contracted for have become engaged, we shall be obliged to withdraw this offer.

For a more complete list of Fall Bulbs, as well as the cultural directions for the various varieties, write for our Fall Bulb catalogue, issued September 1.

Few garden flowers are of easier culture and give such satisfactory results as Dutch Bulbs. Hyacinths and Daffodils in April and early May, and, then, to complete the succession of floral tributes, Darwin, Breeder, and Cottage Tulips from the middle of May until Memorial Day.

Whether you enjoy the privilege of a suburban home with a garden, flower beds, or borders which do not yield flowers until July, or if you have a back-yard garden and are limited as to space, no flowers will yield such a wonderful display and give better returns for as little labor.

Bulbs offered in this Special Offer are for delivery in September, and may be grown with every assurance of success if planted according to simple cultural directions accompanying every order. October and November are the best months for planting.

GIANT DARWIN TULIPS, May-Flowering

The Tulips of Milady's Garden

When Milady on a brilliant May morning surveys her garden border planted in clumps of Darwin and Breeder Tulips, the blooms as large as the giant Cattleya orchids, the petals as thick and as massive as the water-lily, glittering and glistening in the sunlight, she will be tempted to say that these Tulips are indeed the Queens of the Spring Garden. Whether you delight in having flowers with 2- to 3-foot stems for cutting, masses of color against the background of shrubs, planted in clumps of ten or twenty-five each in the herbaceous border, or in various-shaped beds on the lawn, few other Tulips will provide such a wonderful display.

CULTURE.—Bulbs should be planted 5 to 6 inches deep and not less than 5 inches apart. Sand to the depth of $\frac{1}{2}$ inch at the base of the bulbs will amply repay the trouble by the provision for drainage during wet weather. For growing indoors bulbs should be planted as soon as received, and the flowers appear to better advantage if pots a trifle deeper than the ordinary bulb-pans are used. We recommend what are termed azalea-pots for this purpose.

DUTCH BREEDER TULIPS, May-Flowering

Breeder Tulips are very similar in habit to the Darwins, and flower at the same time. Their chief characteristic is their immense blooms, borne on strong, stiff stems, many of them longer than the most gigantic Darwins. The revival of the taste for art colors has made these Tulips, at one time very popular in England, strong favorites with American enthusiasts, who find in their bronze, buff, and brown shades excellent material for contrasting with the light and bright colors of the Darwins. They require same cultural treatment as the Darwins.

Apricot. Dull bronzy buff, shaded deep apricot, base of olive-green. An exquisite border variety frequently attaining the height of 25 inches and having an extra number of petals. $1 per doz., $7 per 100.

Bronze Queen. Soft buff, the inside of the flower tinged golden bronze, with a base of bright yellow. The flower is large and is borne on stems 28 inches long. 80 cts. per doz., $6 per 100.

Cardinal Manning. A very beautiful variety. The color of the flower, when it first opens, is a dull wine-red, slightly flushed bronze; several days after opening it changes to a clear rosy violet, with slight edging of bronze. A very large flower, frequently borne on stems 30 inches high. 80 cts. per doz., $6 per 100.

Chestnut. Unique coloring—chestnut-brown, the inside a deep shade of mahogany, with a black base starred yellow. A good-sized flower on stems 24 in. 90 cts. per doz., $7 per 100.

DUTCH BREEDER TULIPS IN FLOWER DURING MAY

Old English COTTAGE TULIPS

MAY-FLOWERING

Cottage Tulips somewhat resemble the Darwins in length of stem and time of blooming, and, while not such robust growers, are much prized for cut-flowers for the drawing-room or dinner-table. Their pale and lovely colors are exquisite, and all the varieties offered are deliciously sweet-scented. The same cultural directions as recommended for Darwin and Breeder Tulips on the preceding pages are suggested for Cottage Tulips.

Why Not Plan Your Bulb Beds or Borders for Next Spring Blooming Now?

DAFFODILS

Few bulbous flowers are more graceful than the Daffodils. While they do not possess the gorgeous colorings of the Darwin and Cottage tulips, the fact that they come into bloom during April and precede the tulips suggests their use.

The charm of the Daffodil is seen to excellent advantage when planted in clumps in the herbaceous or garden border. All of the varieties offered in this list are excellent for naturalizing in the lawn under trees and along banks of streams. They may also be grown indoors in pots for cutting during February or March.

CULTURE.—Owing to the various sizes of the bulbs, it is not advisable to state the exact depth to plant, but the simple rule of covering the bulb one and a half times its own depth, and making the distance between the bulbs 3 to 4 inches for the smaller sorts and 5 to 6 inches for the larger ones, is a good one. For greenhouse or window-garden culture, treat same as hyacinths, except that three or more bulbs of one variety should be planted in a pot, and not single specimens.

Owing to contingencies of soil, climate, season, or faulty planting, it is impracticable to give assurance that all Bulbs will flower satisfactorily, and like other reputable seed and bulb houses we give no warranty, express or implied. Each year we make extensive trials of the varieties of Bulbs we send out, and can only entertain complaints on the basis of the results shown in our trials.—S. & W. Co.

SELECTED FIRST-SIZE HYACINTHS

Any good soil will grow Hyacinths, but they do best in a rich, light one. Selected First-Size may be planted singly in a 5-inch pot, or bulbs of one variety in a 7- or 8-inch bulb-pan, a piece of broken pot placed across the hole in the bottom, then a layer of moss about an inch deep, to provide proper drainage. Place the bulb in the pot so as to be about half an inch below the surface of the soil. Remove all the offsets from the bulb before potting, and have the soil come up to within an inch of the top of the pot, to permit watering when bulbs are growing. Bulbs so potted may be plunged out in the open garden and covered with about 6 inches of gravel or ashes. This will admit of their getting the proper amount of moisture and still prevent damage by frost. See that there is a firm bed of ashes beneath the pots, so as to prevent the entrance of worms. They may also be put in a coldframe or cool cellar and kept well watered. They should be kept out twelve weeks. A very frequent mistake is made in bringing the bulbs into the light too soon, resulting in a failure to bloom, or else weak spikes. After lifting, see that the temperature for the first two weeks is quite low (50 degrees) until the top-growth has nicely developed, when they may be forced according to one's needs. By keeping near to the glass so as to avoid becoming drawn, with a liberal supply of air, strong spikes of bloom may be had. Avoid, under all circumstances, direct bottom heat.

The figures, 1, 2, 3, 4, indicate relative time of blooming, 1 being early and 4 the latest. Bulbs sent prepaid to your home
